Homework 1

Due: October 31, 2011, at 12:00 noon

Please find a paper in a computer science conference or journal, and read it. Next week, you will be asked to write a review of the paper; after that, I will ask you to prepare a short presentation about the paper. This will help you practice some of the writing and presentation material we discuss in class.

Please submit the following through SmartSite:

- Bibliographic information about the paper. Please put the author, title, conference or journal, and date at a minimum. If page numbers are available, include those. Also, if there is a DOI, an ISBN, an ISSN, or other identifying information, please include that.

- One sentence about what you found most interesting about the paper.
